

Business Law International Guidelines for Contributors

Business Law International, published by the Legal Practice Division of the International Bar Association (IBA), is the leading law journal devoted to issues of relevance to the international commercial, legal and academic community. All members of the IBA Legal Practice Division receive the journal as part of their membership. It is also available to individual subscribers and libraries.

Business Law International articles break new ground on legal issues, provide an in-depth discussion of current developments and timely issues – particularly those with a cross-border or multi-jurisdictional focus – and offer a survey of the law in areas of particular interest to our international readership. The Editorial Board welcomes the submission of articles which illuminate legal problems or issues currently confronted by governments, international organisations, private enterprises etc, by setting them within their general legal or economic context. Articles are welcome from both private practitioners and academics.

Articles should typically be around 4,500 – 8,000 words.

Except in special circumstances, the Editorial Board will not consider articles published or to be published elsewhere. Authors are asked to confirm that their typescript is not and will not be so published, or to explain the relevant circumstances.

Copyright in the article will normally be assigned to the IBA.

Title and author of the article should be clearly indicated, together with the brief personal description (max 50 words) that the author would wish to see appear.

Contributors are asked to provide 10 keywords and a brief headnote of around 100 words describing the contents of their article.

All articles are refereed to ensure both accuracy and relevance. Authors may be asked to revise their articles before final acceptance.

Contributors are asked to use the approved form of citation of legal materials common in their own country.

All materials for the journal must be in English. In special circumstances articles written in a foreign language will be considered for translation and publication. Such articles when submitted to the Editorial Board must be accompanied by a synopsis in English.

Footnotes should be numbered from 1–99.

The citation for the journal is in the following style: [1999] BLI 25.

All materials should be submitted as a Word document via email.

Contributors are recommended to retain a copy of their article and should supply their contact details for further correspondence.
