Mark S Ellis

Executive Director

As Executive Director of the International Bar Association (IBA), Mark Ellis leads the foremost international organization of bar associations, law firms and individual lawyers in the world. The IBA comprises more than 190 national bar associations, major international law firms and 80,000 members worldwide.

Prior to joining the IBA, he spent ten years as the first Executive Director of the Central European and Eurasian Law Initiative (CEELI), a project of the American Bar Association (ABA). Providing technical legal assistance to twenty-eight countries in Central Europe and the former Soviet Union and to the International Criminal Tribunal for the Former Yugoslavia (ICTY) in The Hague, CEELI remains one of the most extensive international pro bono legal assistance projects ever undertaken by the US legal community.

Mark served as Legal Advisor to the Independent International Commission on Kosovo, chaired by Justice Richard J. Goldstone and was appointed by OSCE to advise on the creation of Serbia's War Crimes Tribunal. He was actively involved with the Iraqi High Tribunal and also acted as legal consultant to the defense team of Nuon Chea at the Cambodian War Crimes Tribunal (ECCC). He is leading the IBA's assistance to Ukraine.

In 2000, Dr Ellis was appointed Chair of the Advisory Panel of the ICTY. In 2013, he was admitted to the List of Assistants to Counsel of the International Criminal Court. In 2015, he was appointed Chair of the UN-created Advisory Panel on Matters Relating to Defence Counsel of the Mechanism for International Criminal Tribunals (previously to the ICTY and ICTR).

Dr. Ellis was a long-time consultant to The World Bank on investment policies in Central and Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union and was an Adjunct Professor at The Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law. He is presently an Adjunct Professor at The Florida State University College of Law.

Twice a Fulbright Scholar at the Economic Institute in Zagreb, Croatia, he earned his J.D. and B.S. (Economics) degrees from Florida State University and his PhD in Law from King's College, London. He is the recipient of two research grants to the European Union and the Institut d'Études Europeennes in Brussels, Belgium, focusing on the law and institutions of the European Union.

The International Bar Association (IBA) – the global voice of the legal profession – is the world's leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations and law societies.

Inspired by the founding of the United Nations, the IBA was established in New York in 1947 in the firm belief that an association of the bars, law societies and lawyers of the world could make a difference to the cause of justice and peace globally.

The work of the IBA is concerned with the development and the upholding of international law. The main aims of the IBA are to promote an exchange of information between legal associations worldwide; to support the independence of the judiciary and the right of lawyers to practise their profession without interference; and to support human rights globally through its Human Rights Institute.

During its 70 years of existence the IBA has developed considerable expertise in providing assistance to the global legal community through its membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.
