0800 – 1630  AI and professional ethics

The opportunities of artificial intelligence (AI) for lawyers are enormous, specifically: enhanced efficiency in legal research, drastically improved document review and analysis, predictive analysis and contract analysis and management.

Lawyers have a professional duty to understand the basics of AI and to use it for the clients benefit but also an ethical duty to understand the risks and challenges of such use – from bias to job skills to reliability and accountability.

This session will look at the AI Act. What does it means to be human centred or have ethical artificial intelligence (AI) focus? What is in the future for the development of AI? The session will delve deeper into each area so that there is a well-informed approach about its use within legal practice.

Strategic Lawsuits Against Public Participation (SLAPPs)

- Are suggestions that lawyers are facilitating frivolous litigation aimed at silencing criticism greatly exaggerated?
- How do SLAPPs align with our obligations as lawyers to promote the protection of the fundamental right of freedom of expression?
- Are we, as lawyers taking our professional and ethical obligations seriously?
- Is there a risk that legitimate claims are being branded as SLAPPs?
- What are our obligations to interrogate clients’ instructions and advise them on the risks?

Are you the one? Ethics as a criterion to select lawyers

This session is about the increasing use by clients of ethics criteria when selecting lawyers. Clients may look at track records of fraud and corruption, disciplinary or regulatory history and environmental, social and governance (ESG), ranging from diversity and inclusion standards to sustainability commitments.

- How do clients apply ethics criteria in practice?
- What policies do they use and what are the experiences?
- What does this mean for law firms and for lawyers?
- Which dilemma's do they face when it comes to privacy? Or when it comes to acting on other (potentially) controversial matters?
- Can a law firm be too ethical and ‘prize’ itself out of the market?

We will discuss these questions with clients and managing partners of law firms.

In any case, neither the organisers nor any of their officers, employees, agents, members or representatives shall be liable for any loss, liability, damage or expense suffered or incurred by any person, nor will they return any money paid to them in connection with the Conference unless they are satisfied not only that the money in question remains under their control but also that the person who paid it has been unfairly prejudiced (as to which, decision shall be in their sole and unfettered discretion and, when announced, final and conclusive).
0900 – 0930  Keynote address
David Barniville  President, High Court of Ireland, Dublin; Chair, IBA Judges Forum

0930 – 1030  (How) Should law firms react to such grave situations as the war in Ukraine or the Hamas terror attacks?
This panel will cover the following topics:
• Looking back on recent global situations, how would you assess law firm responses. What could they have done differently?
• Who decides what your position should be – who is in the inner circle of decision making? Who do you trust in your organisation to give you the right advice, do you need external counsel?

The panel will discuss the reasons why this is such an important question to answer, why are we speaking out and how this is intrinsically linked to law firm culture.

The session will conclude with a toolkit/checklist of what to consider when grave situations occur, and how to avoid getting it wrong.

Session Chair
David Burgess  Chief Client Officer, The Legal 500, London; Member, IBA Law Firm Management Committee Advisory Board

1030 – 1100  Coffee break

1100 – 1200  You’re the one that I (don’t) want
This session will consider whether lawyers and law firms should apply any ethical considerations in client selection.

• Should law firms represent oil and gas companies, tobacco business or clients from countries who have invaded other countries?
• Should law firms be screening potential new clients based on their environmental, social and governance (ESG) performance?
• How do decisions that law firms make around these types of questions ultimately impact their business?
• Are there other groups of clients that might be acceptable today, but with any future change in public opinion might raise reputational issues for the firm?
• How do law firms address the challenges of client selection?
• How do individual lawyers reconcile their own position with that of their firm?

Session Chair
David O’Donnell  Mason Hayes & Curran, Dublin
Panellists
Sara Carnegie  Legal Director, International Bar Association, London
Philip van Hilten  No More Worries, Amsterdam

The IBA hosts conferences in venues of a suitable size for each event; however, there are times when a conference may sell out and the IBA cannot guarantee places will be available. Should this happen, prospective delegates will be informed, and a waiting list will operate. The waiting list will function on a ‘first come, first served’ basis, subject to receiving booked delegate cancellations. The waiting list for the Conference will close once the waiting list has reached ten per cent of the venue capacity, as it is very unlikely a place will become available. IBA will not be liable for any expenses or costs incurred by you (including travel and accommodation costs) in relation to attendance at the Conference, including if you travel to the Conference without a confirmed place.

Cancellation by the IBA

We may at any time, with or without giving notice, in our absolute discretion and without giving any reason, cancel or postpone the Conference, change its venue or any of the other published particulars, or withdraw any invitation to attend. In any case, we will not be liable for any loss, liability, damage or expense suffered or incurred by any person, nor will we return any money paid to us in connection with the Conference unless we are satisfied not only that the money in question remains under our control but also that the person who paid it has been unfairly prejudiced (as to which, decision shall be in their sole and unfettered discretion and, when announced, final and conclusive).

The IBA shall have no liability to you, for a refund or otherwise, where the IBA is forced to cancel or reschedule part or all of the Conference due to reasons beyond our reasonable control. However, refunds may be paid at IBA's discretion.

IBA will be entitled to change the venue and make minor changes to the timing and content of the Conference.

About the IBA

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world’s leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations, law firms and law societies.

The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and more than 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.

Inspired by the vision of the United Nations, the IBA was founded in the same spirit, just before the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed in 1948.

The IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information, enabling them to better represent their clients’ interests.

Through its various committees, fora, and task forces, the IBA facilitates the exchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe.

IBA Professional Ethics Committee

The Committee provides a forum for all international lawyers who are interested in discussing and debating issues affecting the practice of law. In today’s world a lawyer may face conflicting duties and the application of professional standards may be far from apparent. The Committee focuses on developments of international significance and seeks active collaboration with other committees and constituents in providing programmes at the IBA conferences.

The Committee works closely with the IBA Standing Committee on Professional Ethics which is concerned with the maintenance and periodical reform of the International Code of Ethics.

The Committee seeks to facilitate relevant networking and information/experience sharing opportunities and encompasses the social and collegial interests of both members and potential members within IBA regional fora, the IBA Corporate Counsel Forum, IBA Young Lawyers Committee and all LPD committees in general.

For more information please visit the Professional Ethics Committee home page.
