Look up and do not look down. Major cities around the world are expected to grow significantly in coming years. London and New York currently have nine million inhabitants but are both predicated to reach 11 million by 2050; New Delhi has 21 million inhabitants but is expected to grow to 42 million in 2050.

This development calls for a new type of urban planning with an upwards focus. This will include the creation of communities in the sky, of buildings with forest roofs and connecting bridges, shared facilities and green vertical neighbourhoods

The effect of electric mobility on infrastructure

Major global cities like Amsterdam, Madrid, Mexico City, Paris and Rome want to ban gasoline and diesel cars as of 2030 to only allow electric cars.

This will fuel the need for charging stations in private residences and public charging stations, and the development of local electric grids and electricity production.

But this will also call for other ways of transportation like Hyperloop, drones, self-driving cars and flying taxis.

How will this affect the infrastructure of the city?

Leases in times of changing tenant demand

Tenants have increased needs for flexible office lease holds due to the new ways of working from home/in the office. Proptech opens up for new ways of putting value into leases. And COVID-19 restrictions and new force majeure clauses have an impact on lease contract. This session addresses these topics and the panelists bring examples on sustainability terms in lease contracts; flexible lease terms; terms influenced by new technology in lease contracts, and new tenant demands in retail lease contracts. This session focuses on these issues and provides examples of relevant clauses to tackle these challenges

If any deductions or withholdings are required by law to be made from any fees payable to us by you under the terms contained in this 'Information' section you shall pay such sum as will, after the deduction or withholding has been made, leave us with the same amount as we would have been entitled to receive in the absence of any such requirement to make a deduction or withholding.

If we obtain the benefit of any tax credit or other relief by reference to any such deductions or withholdings, then we shall repay to you such amount as, after such repayment has been made, will leave us in no worse position than we would have been had no such deductions or withholdings been required.

Conference sell-outs

The IBA places its conferences in venues of a suitable size for each event; however, there are times when our conferences may sell out. Should this happen, prospective delegates will be informed and a waiting list will operate. The waiting list will function on a 'first come, first served' basis, subject to receiving registered delegate cancellations. The waiting list for a conference will close once it has reached 10 per cent of the conference venue capacity, as it is very unlikely a place will become available. Provided you have cancelled your registration to attend an IBA conference in accordance with the terms of the 'cancellation of registration' clause included in the 'Information' section of the relevant conference programme, you must then confirm to us in writing at the IBA office as soon as possible, but in no event later than one year (12 calendar months) from the date of any such conference, all necessary details to enable any reimbursement owed to you to be paid. We regret that no refunds will be made after the date that is one year (12 calendar months) after the date of the relevant conference.

Unauthorised accommodation agents

It has been brought to our attention that there are multiple companies contacting past attendees, claiming to represent the IBA, offering 'assistance' with registration and hotel bookings. They are operating by cold-calling and spamming companies whose names have appeared on previous List of Participants, Programmes and Sponsorship recognition.

The only Accommodation Agent the IBA works with is Judy Lane ICS. Judy Lane ICS do not contact delegates on behalf of the IBA without delegates making initial contact. Please ignore any communication that does not come directly from the IBA or Judy Lane ICS.

A Certificate of Attendance is available to Conference delegates on request. Please ask at the IBA conference registration desk for information on how to obtain the certificate.

IBA Harassment Policy

International Bar Association

the global voice of the legal profession

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world's leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations, law firms and law societies.

The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and more than 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.

Inspired by the vision of the United Nations, the IBA was founded in the same spirit, just before the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed in 1948.

The IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information, enabling them to better represent their clients' interests.

Through its various committees, fora and task forces, the IBA facilitates the exchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe.

IBA Real Estate Section Overview

While real estate assets are traditionally governed by national rules, real estate transactions have long ceased to be a purely national matter. Today, the ownership of properties is traded among investors around the globe. Increasing internationalisation of all aspects of real estate law has also changed the types of lawyers involved. Transactional specialists who often have a corporate law background have, in many cases, replaced traditional real estate lawyers. In this evolving context, the IBA Real Estate Section provides a unique and valuable forum for lawyers from different countries and legal backgrounds to address all sorts of practical and legal issues, exchange views and meet during conferences.
