Antitrust and regulatory roundtable: the challenges of regulating the digital economy - At the intersection of competition and communications law

Representatives from key antitrust agencies and communications regulators from around the globe will discuss their visions and insights for the future of regulation in a digital economy, including the proposed Digital Markets Act in the EU and equivalent rules in Member States, the UK's Digital Markets Unit, and legislative initiatives around the world. This discussion will focus in particular on the interplay between antitrust enforcement (notably in the area of dominance/monopolization) and regulation, impact on innovation, and trends of global convergence or divergence in this area.

Infrastructure sharing, wholesale-only and TowerCos: new models for accelerating 5G and FTTH deployments

In order to deploy FTTH and 5G quickly and in a cost-effective manner, operators increasingly rely on new business model, such as sharing access and infrastructure, co-investments and co-location models, involving PE funds, separating network and services (wholesale-only), or creating TowerCos or FiberCos. In some cases, these models also involve public entities or make use of public resources such as capital contribution, access to dark fiber, access to public premises, EU funds, etc. While these new models may bring environmental and other benefits, they also impact how regulation and competition is to be applied in the telecom sector, potentially bringing regulation closer to the one applicable to other utilities such as energy and rail. These models also require more cooperation between operators, and may also involve state aids, whose broadband guidelines are also currently being reviewed.

This panel will discuss these evolutions and their impact on the application of regulation, antitrust and state aid law.

Digital platforms: antitrust or regulatory approach?

Economic power in the Internet has been traditionally unregulated, due to the fact that the digital markets have been created very recently. However, we are now facing the consolidation of few global online platforms who tend to become dominant on specific markets. They are not only technological operators, but they are also rather market intermediaries that intercept an important share of the added value that flows between producers and consumers, creating monopolistic or oligopolistic double-sided markets. This situation is attracting increasing attention of competition enforcement authorities as well as regulators, consumers, and privacy watchdogs in the world. The EU is now in the process to pass ad hoc pro-competitive legislation for online platforms, while similar proposals are debated in US, Latin America, and Asia. Is the time for ex-post competition rules definitively over for the Internet, and should we instead rely on ex ante regulation, as it was done in the 90's for telecoms?

Artificial Intelligence, Cloud, and antitrust

The past few years have witnessed a huge take off in cloud computing services, supporting new ways to learn, work or entertain ourselves and enabling more ubiquitous services. By enabling access to massive amounts of data stored remotely, the cloud also fosters innovative and disruptive services using AI. However, the market for cloud services is dominated by a few firms, including AWS, Microsoft, and Google and experience shows that in the digital world a global size is key. This roundtable will explore the link between Cloud and AI and the potential implications for these technologies for antitrust enforcement, and, in particular, whether algorithms, cross-platform network effects, lock-in, interoperability and data portability, feedback loops, hub and spoke arrangements could result in restrictions of competition or give rise to abuse.

All fees payable to us by you in accordance with the terms contained in this 'Information' section shall be paid free and clear of all deductions or withholdings whatsoever.

If any deductions or withholdings are required by law to be made from any fees payable to us by you under the terms contained in this 'Information' section you shall pay such sum as will, after the deduction or withholding has been made, leave us with the same amount as we would have been entitled to receive in the absence of any such requirement to make a deduction or withholding.

If we obtain the benefit of any tax credit or other relief by reference to any such deductions or withholdings, then we shall repay to you such amount as, after such repayment has been made, will leave us in no worse position than we would have been had no such deductions or withholdings been required.

Conference sell-outs

The IBA places its conferences in venues of a suitable size for each event; however, there are times when our conferences may sell out. Should this happen, prospective delegates will be informed, and a waiting list will operate. The waiting list will function on a 'first come, first served' basis, subject to receiving registered delegate cancellations. The waiting list for a conference will close once it has reached ten per cent of the conference venue capacity, as it is very unlikely a place will become available. The IBA will not be liable for any travel or accommodation expenses incurred by an individual who travels to a conference without a confirmed place at the event.

Cancellation of registration or social functions

If cancellation is received in writing at the IBA office by 11 April 2022, fees will be refunded less a 25 per cent administration charge. Refunds will be made minus any monies owed to the IBA.

We regret that no refunds can be made after this date. Registrations or social function bookings received after 11 April will not be eligible for any refund of fees. Please note that the IBA will however offer a full refund if you are required to cancel your registration due to Covid related reasons; we will require written confirmation of your cancellation by the end of business on the first day of the conference.

Travel arrangements and visas

Participants are responsible for making their own travel arrangements. It is recommended that you check your visa requirements with your local embassy or consulate. We are unable to dispatch visa invitation letters to support your visa application prior to receipt of your registration form and full payment of registration fees.

Please apply for your visa in good time.

Hotel accommodation

The Four Seasons have offered attendees a discounted rate of €395 per night (+VAT) at the hotel. This can be obtained by using the following promotion code: ASSOCIAT

The code is available for reservations made between 24-26th April and you need to follow the process below:

Visit the website: www.fourseasons.com/madrid/

Select the dates and enter the above-mentioned promo code and the preferred rates will appear.

Delegates are responsible for making accommodation reservations directly with the hotel and entering into an agreement with the hotel regarding credit card guarantees, cancellation terms and conditions, and room rates. The IBA cannot accept responsibility for hotel accommodation disputes between a delegate and the hotel.

Should you have difficulties in obtaining your visa and are not able to attend the Conference this cancellation policy will still apply.

Upon submission of your completed Conference registration form to the IBA you are considered 'registered' pending payment. Please note that the cancellation terms and conditions as indicated will apply as soon as your registration is received.

Provided you have cancelled your registration to attend an IBA Conference in accordance with the terms of the 'cancellation of registration' clause included in the 'Information' section of the relevant Conference programme, you must then confirm to us in writing at the IBA office as soon as possible, but in no event later than one year (12 calendar months) from the date of any such Conference, all necessary details to enable any reimbursement owed to you to be paid. We regret that no refunds will be made after the date that is one year (12 calendar months) after the date of the relevant Conference.

Unauthorised accommodation agents

It has been brought to our attention that there are multiple companies contacting past attendees, claiming to represent the IBA, offering 'assistance' with registration and hotel bookings.

They are operating by cold-calling and spamming companies whose names have appeared on previous List of Participants, Programmes and Sponsorship recognition.

The only Accommodation Agent the IBA works with is Judy Lane ICS. Judy Lane ICS do not contact delegates on behalf of the IBA without delegates making initial contact. Please ignore any communication that does not come directly from the IBA or Judy Lane ICS.

International Bar Association

the global voice of the legal profession

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world's leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations, law firms and law societies.

The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and more than 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.

Inspired by the vision of the United Nations, the IBA was founded in the same spirit, just before the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed in 1948.

The IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to date information, enabling them to better represent their clients' interests.

Through its various committees, fora and task forces, the IBA facilitates the exchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe.

IBA Antitrust Section

The Antitrust Section provides an international forum for thought leadership with respect to antitrust law developments and the profession through submissions to competition agencies, training programs/missions, developing the law through our conferences, publications, and interaction with antitrust enforcement authorities and the profession.

In addition, there is a strong commitment to bring together international practitioners to facilitate closer working relationships. The Section is increasingly relied upon by government officials and members of the private sector for its expertise and practical input into antitrust developments, including through its Working Group submissions.

IBA Communications Law Committee

The Communications Law Committee is a leading global forum for legal practitioners with specialist expertise or interest in the communications sector.

The Committee offers members access to a worldwide network of leading practitioners, in-house counsel and regulators active in digital, communications and media markets.

We encourage the sharing of sectoral expertise through regular publication of articles, periodic issues of our technical journal, the annual committee conference hosted jointly with IBA Antitrust Section, and specialised sessions at the IBA Annual Conference.

The scope of the Committee's work covers network, service and content-related developments across all delivery platforms. This provides members with access to practical global perspectives on the array of technological, commercial and policy issues which confront communications lawyers, their companies and clients.
