3–5 May 2023, Four Seasons Hotel, Buenos Aires

The IBA Litigation Committee is pleased that it will gather for its next Annual Litigation Forum in Buenos Aires – one of the main legal markets in Latin America. This is the first time the Annual Litigation Forum will be held outside Europe or the United States. During this not-to-be-missed event, attendees will have the opportunity to network with leading jurists, corporate counsel, other corporate officers responsible for the management of litigation, managing partners, heads of law firm litigation departments, litigation attorneys, policymakers, academics and anyone involved in managing and solving complex litigation. In addition to two full days of panels, the conference will also host two evening social events. The conference topics being selected will discuss the most up-to-date dispute resolution issues facing the profession today.

Young litigators seminar: how to crack expert evidence – you be the judge

A seminar presented by the Young Litigators Forum of the IBA Litigation Committee

The session will focus on how to cross-examine experts, based on a hypothetical supported by materials. The attendees are invited to read the materials in advance, to acquaint themselves with the case and thus follow the seminar more effectively.

The session will start with the panel (formed of experts in damage valuation and barristers/lawyers) conducting a mock cross-examination of expert witnesses, before providing advice on the dos and don'ts and discussing differences between expert witness examination methods in different jurisdictions. Subsequently, the audience will decide which was the most effective way of proceeding and will have the chance to participate in a Q&A session with the panel.

The session will be a great opportunity for young lawyers and law students to learn from seasoned professionals and to get acquainted with the difficult art of expert cross-examination.

Hot topics in e-commerce: privacy, jurisdiction, and general terms and conditions

Year by year, the importance of e-commerce continues to grow. In many countries, it has become the dominant method for both consumers and businesses to purchase and sell goods and services. Cross-border transactions are the norm in this space, with significant implications for both regulation and dispute resolution. How can e-commerce platforms ensure compliance with competing data privacy rules? When disputes arise, how do courts determine jurisdiction and choice of law? To what extent are consumers treated differently from other market participants, and what are their rights? How can manufacturers and content creators protect their intellectual property rights online? This interactive session will explore these and other recurring issues impacting the rapidly evolving world of e-commerce.

Session Chair

Andreas Frischknecht Chaffetz Lindsey, New York City, NY; Newsletter Editor, IBA Litigation Committee

Speakers

Karina Goldberg Ferro Castro Neves Daltro & Gomide Advogados, São Paulo

Reputational disputes in the social media world – risks and solutions for clients and law firms

Let's say a client, a lawyer or a law firm has been defamed on Twitter, Facebook, or Instagram by a government official. Or by a former customer or client. Or by a competitor. Should there be a reaction, or would that merely attract more attention to the matter? If there ought to be a reaction, what should the reaction be? What are the rights under these circumstances and how does one successfully assert them? This timely and informative session will answer these and other questions relating to reputational disputes in the social media world.

Latest legal issues in transnational litigation

In this increasingly complex and interconnected world, it has become essential for commercial dispute resolution lawyers to be able to navigate the cross-border, transnational litigation landscape. This panel will consider the current hot topics in transnational disputes including: the use of AI in law; the international sanctions regime; enforcement against frozen or confiscated assets; antisuit injunctions; the crisis within Credit Suisse, and the challenge of litigating the same case against global corporations in different jurisdictions.

Session Chair

Lucy Pert Hausfeld, London; Special Projects Officer, IBA Litigation Committee

Speakers

The IBA, its officers and staff accept no responsibility for any views expressed, presentations or materials produced by delegates or speakers at the Conference.

IBA Harassment Policy

IBA conferences provide unrivalled professional development and network-building opportunities for international legal practitioners and their professional associates. The IBA values the participation of every delegate and member of the IBA and wants all attendees to have an enjoyable and fulfilling experience. Accordingly, all conference attendees are expected to show respect and courtesy to other attendees, IBA staff and those involved with hosting the events throughout the conference and at all conference events, receptions, and parties, whether officially organised by the IBA or others. All delegates, guests, attendees, speakers, exhibitors, staff and volunteers at any IBA event are required to conform to the IBA Harassment Policy.

See www.ibanet.org/conferences/harassment-policy.aspx

Continuing Professional Development / Continuing Legal Education

For Conference delegates from jurisdictions where CPD/CLE is mandatory, the IBA will provide a Certificate of Attendance for the Conference. Subject to CPD/CLE requirements, Conference delegates can use this to obtain the relevant number of hours' accreditation. The number of CPD/CLE hours available may vary depending on the rules applied by the members' bar association/law society on time recording criteria.

A Certificate of Attendance is available to Conference delegates on request. Please ask at the IBA conference registration desk for information on how to obtain the certificate.

PLEASE ENSURE THAT YOUR NAME AND 'CONF2310LITIGATION' APPEAR ON ANY TRANSFER OR DRAFT.

Conference sell-outs

The IBA places its conference in venues of a suitable size for the event; however there are times when our conferences may sell out. Should this happen, prospective delegates will be informed and a waitlist will operate. The waitlist will function on a 'first come, first served' basis, subject to receiving registered delegate cancellations. The IBA will not be liable for any travel or accommodation expenses incurred by an individual who travels to the conference without a confirmed place at the event.

Cancellation of registration

If cancellation is received in writing at the IBA office by 17 March 2023, fees will be refunded less a 25 per cent administration charge. Refunds will be made minus any monies owed to the IBA. We regret that no refunds can be made after this date. Registrations received after 17 March will not be eligible for any refund of registration fees.

Provided you have cancelled your registration to attend an IBA conference in accordance with the terms of the 'cancellation of registration' clause included in the 'Information' section of the relevant conference programme, you must then confirm to us in writing at the IBA office as soon as possible but in no event later than one year (12 calendar months) from the date of any such conference all necessary details to enable any reimbursement owed to you to be paid. We regret that no refunds will be made after the date that is one year (12 calendar months) after the date of the relevant conference.

International Bar Association

the global voice of the legal profession

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world's leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations, law firms and law societies.

The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and more than 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.

Inspired by the vision of the United Nations, the IBA was founded in the same spirit, just before the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed in 1948.

The IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information, enabling them to better represent their clients' interests.

Through its various committees, fora and task forces, the IBA facilitates the exchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe.

IBA Litigation Committee overview

The Litigation Committee focuses on the legal, practical and procedural issues involved in conducting litigation. Differences and developments in individual jurisdictions are compared. The issues arising in international litigation receive particular attention, including issues such as jurisdiction, choice of law, and the role of international judicial assistance in dispute resolution. Practitioners involved in larger scale or international litigation can debate topical issues and share their experiences of handling and solving the problems arising from such disputes. In particular, the committee seeks to explore the differences of approach between the common law and civil law traditions, and to encourage a dialogue between practitioners from these two systems.

Close links are maintained with various organisations such as the American Bar Association Litigation Section, the British Institute of International and Comparative Law and the Australian Corporate Lawyers Association.
