Thursday 21 September

0800 – 1600  Registration

0830 – 0845  Welcome address

0845 – 1030 Adhesion of Brazil to the OECD: critical analysis of the new Brazilian transfer pricing rules by the major trading and investment partners

In recent years, Brazil has taken significant steps towards becoming a member of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). As part of this process, the country has implemented new transfer pricing rules that aim to align its tax practices with international standards. However, this move has not been without its challenges and implications for Brazil’s major trading and investment partners.

The panel will examine the effects of these rules on multinational corporations and investors, with experts offering a diverse range of insights. Join us for this enlightening exploration of Brazil’s OECD journey and its broader global economic impact.

Session Co-Chairs
Thais de Barros Meira  BMA Advogados, São Paulo
Lars Gläser  Glaeser Law Tax Boutique, Vienna

0830 – 1100  Coffee/tea break

1100 – 1230 Global M&A transactions and indirect sale for capital gains taxation - how to deal with the attribution of price and lack of regulation

Developing countries have been concerned that offshore indirect transfers can be used to avoid capital gains taxation in the country where the underlying assets are located. Famous tax controversies include the Vodafone case in India, acquisition of Petrotech in Peru, acquisition of Minera Disputada Las Condes by Anglo American in Chile and the Zain case in Uganda. Several countries, including Argentina, Brazil, Chile, India and Peru, have implemented rules for taxation of indirect transfers or challenging transactions reputed as abusive tax planning. This panel will discuss the impact of taxation of indirect transfers on global M&A... transactions, including issues around thresholds for triggering tax in the source country, valuation of underlying assets, rules on real estate thresholds, attribution of capital gains, interface of indirect transfer rules with tax treaties and enforcement rules to collect tax liability.

1230 – 1400  Lunch

1400 – 1530  Sports and taxes – taxation of SAF/capital gains on international transfer of athletes and compensation structures (star companies) Football is Brazil’s national passion. A recent legislation has passed regulating the incorporation of football corporations (‘SAFs’), opening room for a significant number of new investment opportunities. Since last year, foreign investors have been acquiring stakes of traditional football clubs and negotiating the acquisition of rights to explore the Brazilian national league. Given that substantial amounts of money are part of the game – player transfers, image rights, TV quotas, licensed products, bets and so on – this has sparked the interest of tax administration to increase the collection of taxes internally and on cross-border transactions.
The panel will discuss with internationally experienced professionals tax issues arising from investment structures in Brazil and other countries, the remuneration of players and the international transfers and loan of players among other topics.

1600 – 1730  The analysis of the tax burden of the affiliate of MNEs from OECD member countries – definition of corporate taxes and tax benefits
The tax burden shouldered by affiliates of multinational enterprises (MNEs) operating within OECD member countries is a complex issue of considerable significance in today’s globalised economy.

By focusing on the nuances of corporate taxes and tax benefits, we’ll elucidate these topics and their role in shaping fiscal policy and business strategies.

Our panel of experts will provide their insights on the definition of corporate taxes, the taxonomy of tax benefits, and how these elements collectively shape the overall tax obligation of MNE affiliates. The discussion will also explore potential avenues for tax optimisation, the dynamics of international tax competition, and the regulatory challenges in harmonising tax rules among OECD member countries.

As we navigate an era of unprecedented digital transformation, understanding the tax dynamics associated with it becomes crucial. Our panel will take a deep dive into the taxation challenges and complexities associated with transactions within cryptocurrencies, digital platforms, and the emerging metaverse. This exploration underscores the need for comprehensive, equitable tax laws that keep pace with rapid technological advancements. 1030 – 1100  Challenges of structuring pre-migration planning for HNI and families

There could be many reasons why high-net-worth individuals would want to relocate; among others, business, education or tax may drive them to new jurisdictions. There are many jurisdictions which appear to be in a race to attract talent and wealth. These jurisdictions are prepared to offer incentives such as golden visas and tax incentives. There could be consequences due to change in domicility or tax residence, and implications on existing trust structures relating to the governing law. There are also non-tax issues that would impact on those migrating, including succession law, pre-nuptial agreements and lasting power of attorney. Ultimately, safety, security and certainty may be the key determinants motivating migratory plans. The panel will explore these migratory issues and the consequential impact that they will give rise to for the wealthy.

From traditional sources to renewables: the role of green taxes
The climate crisis is a topic of extensive international discussion, emphasised by the signing of the Paris Agreement in December 2015. The Agreement, signed by 196 countries, aims to reduce carbon emissions primarily through the transition from traditional energy sources to renewable ones. These aims are further reflected in policies adopted by governments around the world, such as the European Green Deal, approved in 2020, which seeks to make the European Union climate-neutral by 2050. Governments worldwide are progressively leveraging tax mechanisms to meet their environmental goals. Several nations have introduced tax benefits to encourage eco-friendly behavior, increase clean energy investments and foster sustainable growth in green energy, and some have also implemented particular charges, tariffs, or energy and environment-related taxes to discourage harmful practices.

In this context, our expert panel will debate how governments from various jurisdictions are striving to foster and stimulate investment in clean, renewable energy through tax policies and incentives, the practical impact that these measures could have on an enterprise’s return on investment and the opportunities these incentives and programmes present to impact investors.

New developments in structuring investments in and expansion of start-ups
In an environment where start-ups are becoming increasingly integral to the economy, understanding the fiscal dynamics of investment structures and their expansion is essential. In this context, our panel will delve into the cutting-edge developments in fiscal planning related to start-up investments and their growth. We will shed light on the tax implications that stem from different investment architectures, address the challenges therein, and explore the innovative solutions that have emerged. Our exploration will include an in-depth analysis of the complex interplay between taxation policy, investment growth, and start-up expansion, with the aim of providing valuable insights for investors, entrepreneurs, and those practicing tax law.

The International Bar Association (IBA), established in 1947, is the world’s leading organisation of international legal practitioners, bar associations, law firms and law societies.

The IBA influences the development of international law reform and shapes the future of the legal profession throughout the world. It has a membership of more than 80,000 individual lawyers and more than 190 bar associations and law societies spanning over 170 countries.

Inspired by the vision of the United Nations, the IBA was founded in the same spirit, just before the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was proclaimed in 1948.

The IBA covers all practice areas and professional interests, providing members with access to leading experts and up-to-date information, enabling them to better represent their clients’ interests.

Through its various committees, fora and task forces, the IBA facilitates the exchange of information and views among its members as to laws, practices and professional responsibilities relating to the practice of law around the globe.

IBA Taxes Committee overview

The Taxes Committee encourages interface between international tax specialists and promotes the building of networks among tax lawyers worldwide to assist them in better serving the interests of their clients. The committee is divided informally into four practice group areas: Income Taxes, Other Taxes, Tax Litigation and Employee Benefits.

Members are encouraged to contribute to the committee newsletter which is published two to three times per year and to present papers at committee conferences and seminars. The committee also offers tax executives a forum, in its Tax Executives group, to exchange expertise and skills with their colleagues in industry on topics of special interest.
